human fall flat secret achievements: Personal Autonomy, the Private Sphere and Criminal Law Peter Alldridge, Chrisje Brants, 2001-03-19 This book contains original essays by a distinguished group of jurists from six different European countries confronting the increasing range of legal and philosophical issues arising from the relationship between privacy and the criminal law. The collection is particularly timely in light of the incorporation into English law of the European Convention on Human Rights. It compares legal cultures and underlying assumptions with regard to the private sphere, personal autonomy and the supposed justifications for State interference through criminalization and the implementation of substantive criminal law. The book moves from treatment of general ideas like the relationship between sovereignty, the nation-state and substantive criminal law in the new European context, (with its concomitant aspiration towards the establishment of transnational morality) to more detailed consideration of specific areas of substantive law and procedure, viewed from a range of perspectives. Areas considered include euthanasia, surrogacy, female genital mutilation and sado-masochism.

human fall flat secret achievements: Oscar Controversies Octavia Marchand, AI, 2025-02-24 Oscar Controversies examines the Academy Awards through a critical lens, revealing how upsets, snubs, and scandals have marked its history. The book argues that the Oscars are not objective measures of cinematic quality; instead, they reflect subjective tastes, strategic campaigning, and prevailing social and political climates. Did you know that some historical analyses suggest vote rigging has influenced outcomes? The book dives into the complex web of film industry politics, exploring how these controversies mirror broader trends in society. The book approaches these topics by first introducing the history and voting system of the Academy Awards. It then dedicates chapters to specific examples of upsets, snubs, and scandals, drawing upon contemporary reviews and historical records. For instance, it investigates instances where films with poor critical reception still managed to win, highlighting potential factors such as effective marketing or studio influence. Understanding these events requires a grasp of the economics of the film industry, and the historical context in which these events unfolded, shedding light on the ongoing debates surrounding diversity and representation. Finally, the book analyzes the patterns and trends that emerge from these controversies, offering a nuanced perspective on the Academy's role in shaping film culture. human fall flat secret achievements: Public Expenditure Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Children, Schools and Families Committee, 2009 In its annual examination of the Department for Children, Schools and Families' (DCSF) spending, the Children, Schools and Families Committee predicts that future funding will be much tighter than at present and the rate of spending growth will be minimal come the next Spending Review. The Committee is pleased that the Government has reaffirmed its commitment to capital investment in education, but there is concern that the review of Building Schools for the Future will lead to the programme being curtailed. To avoid doubt, the Department should make a clear statement about the programme's future. The Committee identifies key problems with the presentation of expenditure figures in the report, including confusion about which expenditure streams or grants deliver which objectives, and calls on the Department to rectify these problems in its next Annual Report. To ensure real accountability, staging points must be included for long term Public Service Agreement (PSA) targets. In order to assess whether these targets have been met, it is imperative that DCSF does not revise them at every three-yearly spending review. The Committee is disappointed that details on how DCSF achieved its efficiency savings are vague and it expects much more of the promised detail in the 2009 Departmental Annual Report.

human fall flat secret achievements: Stellar Transformations Steven Rybin, 2022-01-14 Stellar Transformations: Movie Stars of the 2010s circles around questions of stardom, performance, and their cultural contexts in ways that remind us of the alluring magic of stars while also bringing to the fore the changing ways in which viewers engaged with them during the last decade. A salient idea that guides much of the collection is the one of transformation, expressed in these pages as the way in which post-millennial movie stars are in one way or another reshaping ideas of performance and star presence, either through the self-conscious revision of aspects of their own personas or in redirecting or progressing some earlier aspect of the culture. Including a diverse lineup of stars such as Oscar Isaac, Kristen Stewart, Tilda Swinton, and Tyler Perry, the chapters in Stellar Transformations paint the portrait of the meaning of star images during the complex decade of the 2010s, and in doing so will offer useful case studies for scholars and students engaged in the study of stardom, celebrity, and performance in cinema.

human fall flat secret achievements: Reading the Modernist Long Poem Brendan C. Gillott, 2020-12-10 How do readers approach the enigmatic and unnavigable modernist long poem? Taking as the form's exemplars the highly influential but critically contentious poetries of John Cage and Charles Olson, this book considers indeterminacy - the fundamental feature of the long poem - by way of its analogues in musicology, mycology, cybernetics and philosophy. It addresses features of these works that figure broadly in the long poem tradition, such as listing, typography, archives, mediation and mereology, while articulating how both poets broke with the longform poetic traditions of the early 1900s. Brendan C. Gillott argues for Cage's and Olson's centrality to these traditions - in developing, critiquing and innovating on the longform poetics of the past, their work revolutionized the longform poetry of the 20th and 21st centuries.
