learn music history online: Integrating Digital Literacy in the Disciplines Lauren Hays, Jenna Kammer, 2023-07-03 Digital literacy has become the vital competency that students need to master before graduating. This book provides rich examples of how to integrate it in disciplinary courses. While many institutions are developing introductory courses to impart universal literacy (skills students need to know) and creative literacy (skills for creating new content), discipline-specific skills (skills needed to succeed within a specific discipline) are a vital extension to their learning and ability to apply digital literacy in different contexts. This book provides examples of how to integrate digital literacy across a wide variety of courses spanning many domains. Rather than a wholly new core institutional outcome, digital literacy adds to the development of critical thinking, communication, problem-solving, and teamwork skills by building students' capacities to assess online information so they can ethically share, communicate, or repurpose it through the appropriate use of available digital technologies. In short, it provides the vital digital dimension to their learning and the literacy skills which will be in increasing demand in their future lives. Following introductory chapters providing context and a theoretical framework, the contributing authors from different disciplines share the digital competencies and skills needed within their fields, the strategies they use to teach them, and insights about the choices they made. What shines through the examples is that, regardless of the specificity of the disciplinary examples, they offer all readers a commonality of approach and a trove of ideas that can be adapted to other contexts. This book constitutes a practical introduction for faculty interested in including opportunities to apply digital literacy to discipline-specific content. The book will benefit faculty developers and instructional designers who work with disciplinary faculty to integrate digital literacy. The book underscores the importance of preparing students at the course level to create, and be assessed on, digital content as fields are modernizing and delivery formats of assignments are evolving. Domains covered include digital literacy in teacher education, writing, musicology, indigenous literary studies, communications, journalism, business information technology, strategic management, chemistry, biology, health sciences, optometry, school librarianship, and law. The book demonstrates a range of approaches that can be used to teach digital literacy skills in the classroom, including:

- Progressing from digital literacy to digital fluency
- Increasing digital literacy by creating digital content
- Assessment of digital literacy
- Identifying ethical considerations with digital literacy
- Sharing digital content outside of the classroom
- Identifying misinformation in digital communications

- Preparing students to teach digital literacy to others

Musikhören in therapeutischer Methodik verband sich im 20. Jahrhundert über Möglichkeiten der technischen Moderne mit Hoffnungen auf neue Wege in der Heilkunst. Diese Hoffnungen sind zum Lebensthema der US-amerikanischen Musikerin und Musiktherapeutin Helen Lindquist Bonny (1921–2010) geworden: Als Violinistin entwickelte sie zunächst eine Expertise für Musik der klassisch-romantischen Ästhetik, bevor sie musiktherapeutisch aktiv wurde und dann mit Guided Imagery and Music (GIM) ein musikrezeptives Methodenwerk entwarf. Ihr Lebensweg war verbunden mit Bestrebungen weiblicher Emanzipation und der Rezeption eines Zeitgeistes, in dem die Auseinandersetzung mit Formen veränderter Wachbewusstheit faszinierte. Musikreisen in innere Räume eröffnet an ihrer Biographie ein Panorama zur frühen Fachgeschichte der rezeptiven Musiktherapie im 20. Jahrhundert.

Information Retrieval has become a very active research field in the 21st century. Many from academia and industry present their innovations in the field in a wide variety of conferences and journals. Companies transfer this new knowledge directly to the general public via services such as web search engines in order to improve their information seeking experience. In parallel, teaching IR is turning into an important aspect of IR generally, not only because it is necessary to impart effective search techniques to make the most of the IR tools available, but also because we must provide a good foundation for those students who will become the driving force of future IR technologies. There are very few resources for teaching and learning in IR, the major problem which this book is designed to solve. The objective is to provide ideas and practical experience of teaching and learning IR, for those whose job requires them to teach in one form or another, and where delivering IR courses is a major part of their working lives. In this context of providing a higher profile for teaching and learning as applied to IR, the co-editor of this book, Efthimis Efthimiadis, had maintained a leading role in teaching and learning within the domain of IR for a number of years. This book represents a posthumous example of his efforts in the area, as he passed away in April 2011. This book, his book, is dedicated to his memory.
