joanna tulsa salon: Crowded by Beauty David Schneider, 2015-07-26 Philip Whalen was an American poet, Zen Buddhist, and key figure in the literary and artistic scene that unfolded in San Francisco in the 1950s and '60s. When the Beat writers came West, Whalen became a revered, much-loved member of the group. Erudite, shy, and profoundly spiritual, his presence not only moved his immediate circle of Beat cohorts, but his powerful, startling, innovative work would come to impact American poetry to the present day. Drawing on Whalen's journals and personal correspondence—particularly with Ginsberg, Kerouac, Snyder, Kyger, Welch, and McClure —David Schneider shows how deeply bonded these intimates were, supporting one another in their art and their spiritual paths. Schneider, himself an ordained priest, provides an insider's view of Whalen's struggles and breakthroughs in his thirty years as a Zen monk. When Whalen died in 2002 as the retired Abbot of the Hartford Street Zen Center, his own teacher referred to him as a patriarch of the Western lineage of Buddhism. Crowded by Beauty chronicles the course of Whalen's life, focusing on his unique, eccentric, humorous, and literary-religious practice.

joanna tulsa salon: Fiction and Poetry to Help Us Age Laurence W. Mazzeno, Sue Norton, 2025-09-09 This volume explores the theme of age and aging, uniquely combining personal reflections from literature professors with sound scholarly analysis of a range of fiction and poetry. Bringing together leading literary scholars, this collection of essays covers a range of writers and texts, representing both the canon and new voices. By combining the chapter authors' expertise as literary and cultural critics with their own responses to novels, short stories and poems, the book offers new insights into the life trajectories made available to fiction and poetry readers through compelling narrative and vivid literary representation.

joanna tulsa salon: Wild Soul Woman Mary Reynolds Thompson, 2024-09-16 Allzu leicht vergessen wir, dass wir als Menschen uns in den mehr als 200.000 Jahren unserer Entwicklung zumeist in der wilden Natur bewegt haben; sie ist es, die uns tiefinnerlich geprägt hat. Heute ist die Natur gezähmt, unterjocht, vor unseren Karren gespannt – und so ist es auch unsere Seele. In ihren Kursen für Frauen arbeitet Mary Reynolds Thompson daran, die wilde Natur der Seele wieder freizulegen: anhand der Archetypen von fünf Landschaften. Diese sind alles andere als Konstrukte des Verstandes, sondern lebensvolle Bildekräfte der Seele, die durch die Arbeit mit diesem Buch wieder befreit werden können. Zuerst begegnen wir Wüstenfrau, die uns auf uns selbst zurückverweist. Können wir mit uns allein sein? Sind wir bereit, uns der Leere, Stille und Weite der Wüste zu stellen? Wenn wir erkennen, dass wir genug sind und alles, was wir brauchen, in uns tragen, haben wir die Lektion der Wüste gelernt. Dann gelangen wir zu Waldfrau, die uns in die Tiefe unseres schöpferischen Vermögens führt, in den dunklen Schoß, aus dem das Leben entspringt. Wenn wir hier vom linearen auf den spiralförmigen Pfad gelangt sind, können wir weitergehen zu Meer- und Flussfrau. Hier lernen wir, all das Gestaute wieder zum Fließen zu bringen, uns dem Fluss des Lebens hinzugeben und dabei ganz wir selbst zu sein. Wenn das gelingt, können wir uns hinstellen wie ein Berg, wie Bergfrau es uns zeigt. Wir stehen zu unserer Kraft und Größe und weichen Reibungen nicht mehr aus. Wir sind die, die wir sind. Ganz wir selbst sind wir reif, uns in wahre Gemeinschaft zu begeben, wie es uns Graslandfrau zeigt. Hier gedeihen wir und lassen alle um uns herum wachsen und sich entfalten. Denn die wilde Seele lässt das Eigene und Wilde in allen Wesen gelten. Dieses Buch verwandelt schon beim Lesen, doch eröffnen die Übungen und praktischen Anregungen darüber hinaus wirkliches Wachstum – um so mehr, wenn sich
