joanna tulsa: The WPA Oklahoma Slave Narratives T. Lindsay Baker, Julie Philips Baker, 1996 I never talk to nobody 'bout this was the response of one aged African American when asked by a Works Project Administration field worker to share memories of his life in slavery and after emancipation. He and other ex-slaves were uncomfortable with the memories of a time when black and white lives were interwoven through human bondage. Yet the WPA field workers overcame the old people's reticence, and American West scholars T. Lindsay Baker and Julie P. Baker have collected all the known WPA Oklahoma slave narratives in this volume for the first time - including fourteen never published before. Their careful editorial notes detail what is known about the interviewers and the process of preparing the narratives.

joanna tulsa: The Routledge Anthology of British Women Playwrights, 1777-1843

Thomas C. Crochunis, Michael E. Sinatra, 2019-06-10 The Routledge Anthology of British Women Playwrights, 1777-1843 brings together ten eclectic plays by female dramatists and writers, to stimulate a rich discussion of women, writing, and theatre history. Ranging through tragedy, comedy, musical theatre and mixed-genre texts, this volume celebrates the breadth and experimental spirit of women's eighteenth- and nineteenth-century dramatic writing. Each play is accompanied by an introductory essay that addresses its sociopolitical and theatrical contexts, and outlines its performance and reception history. The selections included here invite teachers and their students to study particular works by authors of note, but also to consider the differences between works written for page and stage. While many of the plays are recognizable as published dramas, they have been placed alongside textual artifacts that suggest plays or theatrical events of which no definitive record exists, as well as supplementary materials that invite teachers to engage their students in exploring women's dramatic writing in this era. Organized in chronological order, The Routledge Anthology of British Women Playwrights, 1777-1843 traces a history of women's writing across genres and styles, offering an invaluable resource to students and teachers alike.

joanna tulsa: Creating Romantic Obsession Kathleen Béres Rogers, 2019-03-29 Most of us have, at one time, been obsessed with something, but how did obsession become a mental illness? This book examines literary, medical, and philosophical texts to argue that what we call obsession became a disease in the Romantic era and reflects the era's anxieties. Using a number of literary texts, some well-known (like Mary Shelley's 1818 Frankenstein and Edgar Allan Poe's 1843 "The Tell Tale Heart") and some not (like Charlotte Dacre's 1811 The Passions and Charles Brockden Brown's 1787 Edgar Huntly), the book looks at "vigilia", an overly intense curiosity, "intellectual monomania", an obsession with study, "nymphomania" and "erotomania", gendered forms of desire, "revolutiana", an obsession with sublime violence and military service, and "ideality," an obsession with an idea. The coda argues that traces of these Romantic constructs can be seen in popular accounts of obsession today.

joanna tulsa: Through a Glass Darkly Holly Faith Nelson, Lynn R. Szabo, Jens Zimmermann, 2011-01-19 Suffering, the sacred, and the sublime are concepts that often surface in humanities research in an attempt to come to terms with what is challenging, troubling or impossible to represent. These intersecting concepts are used to mediate the gap between the spoken and the unspeakable, between experience and language, between body and spirit, between the immanent and the transcendent, and between the human and the divine. The twenty-five essays in Through a Glass Darkly: Suffering, the Sacred, and the Sublime in Literature and Theory, written by international scholars working in the fields of literary criticism, philosophy, and history, address the ways in which literature and theory have engaged with these three concepts and related concerns. The contributors analyze literary and theoretical texts from the medieval period to the postmodern age, from the works of Chaucer, Shakespeare, Donne, and Herbert to those of Endô Shûsaku, Alice Munro, Annie Dillard, Emmanuel Levinas, and Slavoj Žižek. This book will be of particular interest to scholars of religion and literature, philosophy and literature, aesthetic theory, and trauma studies.

joanna tulsa: Character and Caricature, 1660-1820 Jennifer Buckley, Montana Davies-Shuck, 2024-05-28 This edited collection offers a reappraisal of character as a precondition for caricature and addresses how the two began to merge, becoming increasingly interlinked over the course of the long eighteenth century. It emphasises the need to understand character more fully, arguing that the nuances and origins of caricature can only be appreciated in light of the genre's prehistory and reliance on popular character types. Interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary in approach, the collection makes use of a variety of theories and addresses fiction in its broadest sense, expanding and reconceptualising critical, historical and theoretical discussion of character. Chapters draw from disability studies, cultural materialism, gender studies and the history of sexuality, spatial theory and performance studies.

joanna tulsa: The Browning Family History Dottie Dell Elliott, 1990 David Browning was born in 1782 in North Carolina. He married Mary Magdelene Miller in 1805 and they had seven children. They moved from North Carolina to Tennessee and then on to Missouri. Historical and biographical sketches of his descendants and the time periods in which they lived are included in this material. Parts of at least one branch of his descendants became members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. They are now scattered throughout the United States but many remain in Missouri and Oklahoma.

joanna tulsa: Text & Presentation, 2015 Graley Herren, 2016-02-09 Bringing together some of the best work from the 2015 Comparative Drama Conference in Baltimore, this book covers subjects from ancient Greece to 21st century America with a variety of approaches and formats, including two transcripts, 10 research papers and six book reviews. This year's highlight is the keynote conversation featuring Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright David Lindsay-Abaire. This volume is the twelfth in a series dedicated to presenting the latest research in the fields of comparative drama, performance and dramatic textual analysis.

joanna tulsa: Dem Days Was Hell - Recorded Testimonies of Former Slaves from 17 U.S. States Work Projects Administration, 2024-01-15 In Dem Days Was Hell - Recorded Testimonies of Former Slaves from 17 U.S. States, the Work Projects Administration presents a poignant anthology of firsthand accounts that illuminate the harrowing realities faced by former slaves in the United States. This seminal work is characterized by its raw authenticity and compelling narrative style, blending oral histories with social commentary. The testimonies, collected during the tumultuous era of the Great Depression, offer insights into the lived experiences of African Americans and serve not only as a historical documentation but also as a platform for the voices that have long been silenced. The WPA's efforts reflect a broader literary trend toward the preservation of folk narratives, allowing readers to engage with a past that deeply informs the present sociopolitical landscape. The Work Projects Administration, a New Deal agency established to alleviate unemployment during the 1930s, embarked on ambitious projects capturing the oral histories of marginalized communities. By assembling these narratives, the WPA aimed to document the harsh realities of American life while employing those in the arts and humanities. The initiative reflects the organization's commitment to social justice and the preservation of cultural heritage, which undoubtedly influenced the curation of this impactful compilation. Dem Days Was Hell is highly recommended for scholars, students, and general readers eager to explore the intricate tapestry of American history through the eyes of its most affected individuals. This book not only serves as an indispensable historical record but also as a reminder of the resilience of the human spirit in the face of systemic oppression. Engaging with these narratives will enrich one's understanding of the complexities of race, identity, and memory in America.

joanna tulsa: Are Christians the Hitlers of Today? Joanna, 2009-04 Ever gone to church thinking you were in a safe place, only to find out that the pastor was having an affair with the choir director's wife? Remember when all those priests molested those young boys, some who were altar boys in the church? Do you know that Hitler professed to be a Christian? Ever been conned into giving money to the church, only to be left penniless and alone? Go with Joanna on her own spiritual journey, battling the dictators in her life and finding some of the keys to emotional healing. See how total surrender to a just and loving God can expose the errors in your thinking and bring you to an understanding of truth. What is truth? Pontius Pilate asked Jesus this question. Would you like to know the answer? Joanna was born in Connecticut. Married in 1977, she moved to Rhode Island. In 1979 she began attending Al-anon meetings which changed the course of her life. The next seven years took her on an incredible journey of spiritual, mental, and emotional healing. Divorced with three small sons, she headed to Tulsa OK in 1986 to attend Oral Roberts University. Although people in Tulsa had many valid spiritual experiences, they were very often emotionally bankrupt. AA and Al-anon were not promoted. Joanna's years in recovery in Rhode Island, prepared her for the frustration she found in Tulsa attempting to walk out her calling. She was ordained through Ministers for Christ Assembly of Churches and spent eight years ministering with the homeless. She has recorded two albums: The Dance and Heed My Call. She lives in Sand Springs Oklahoma with her new husband and teen-age son. Graduated from college, her other boys are grown and married and live in Fort Worth Texas.
