Restorative literacies are designed to help educators reach, repair, and restore the literacies of our most disenfranchised and disengaged students in all classrooms through the recognition and expansion of students' experiences and literacies they bring to school. Restorative literacies aim to create a community of care that involves students, teachers, administrators, student's families, and principals so that all students experience racially, culturally, linguistically, and economically responsive, authentic, and engaging instruction in multiple forms of literacies. The practice of restorative literacies focuses on building and strengthening positive relationships between the backgrounds and perspectives, as well as the variable skills, proficiencies, and fluencies, of readers, the multiple texts readers encounter, and the authors of such texts through an intentional system of response, repair, and restoration in an educational setting-- the hate u give pdf: Muss ich das gelesen haben? Teresa Reichl, 2023-03-14 LITERATUR. KANON. REVOLTE! - DIE ZUKUNFT DES LESENS STEHT AUF FEMINISTISCHEN FÜSSEN Wie das Patriarchat über wichtige Literatur entscheidet, unsere Weltsicht prägt - und warum wir jetzt etwas dagegen tun müssen Beginnen wir mit einer beliebten Unwahrheit: Jugendliche wollen nicht mehr lesen. Absoluter Quatsch, sagt Autorin Teresa Reichl. Vielmehr ist es so: Wir müssen endlich mit den verstaubten Kanon-Listen und den ewig gleichen Autoren (!) aufräumen. Tun wir das nicht, gefährden wir die Zukunft des Lesens. Denn: Wie kann es sein, dass nur eine Perspektive zum Klassiker taugt? Wie sollen wir uns für Bücher begeistern, wenn Geschichten wieder und wieder und wieder aus einer ähnlichen Sicht erzählt werden? Wenn nur bestimmte Autoren (weiß, männlich, heterosexuell ...) als große Literaten gefeiert werden? Am besten haben wir keine Meinung zu Klassikern, die von der allgemeinen abweicht, und falls doch, sind wir vielleicht einfach nicht intelligent genug oder wir haben diese hohe Kunst einfach nicht verstanden. Woher das alles kommt? Welcome to patriarchy! Ja, das Patriarchat hat überall Einfluss - auch auf das, was und wie wir lesen. Es ist deshalb Zeit für den nächsten logischen feministischen Schritt: Die Literatur und ihre Geschichte werden umgeschrieben. Werden divers. Werden endlich korrigiert. Bam! Grundlagen, Alternativ-Kanon und geballtes Wissen: in verständlich und für alle! Eine neue Sicht auf Literatur ist möglich und notwendig. Das beweist Teresa Reichl, indem sie Basics zur Literaturgeschichte klärt, die bestehende Riege der Klassiker gründlich prüft und einen ausgewachsenen Alternativ-Kanon entwirft. Wofür? Um zu zeigen, dass es Bücher (ja, auch alte!)

von Autor*innen gibt, von denen immer behauptet wird, sie hätten nichts geschrieben. Um endlich neue Stimmen erzählen zu lassen. Die Autorin macht deutlich, dass es eine Offenheit braucht, die neue Bücher im literarischen Kanon zulässt. Um Blickwinkel zugänglich zu machen, mit denen sich Jugendliche, aber auch Erwachsene identifizieren können. Das hier ist der Anfang einer Literaturrevolte. Wie sie aussehen könnte? Steht in diesem lehrreichen, wütenden und zugleich witzigen Buch.

the hate u give pdf: Inclusive Young Adult Fiction Melanie Ramdarshan Bold, 2019-01-04 This book examines 'diversity', or the lack thereof, in young adult fiction (YA) publishing. It focuses on cultural hegemony in the United Kingdom and explores how literary culture aimed at young adults reproduces and perpetuates 'racial' and ethnic cultural hierarchies. Diversity is described by the We Need Diverse Books project as 'all diverse experiences, including (but not limited to) LGBTQIA, Native, people of color, gender diversity, people with disabilities, and ethnic, cultural, and religious minorities'. This study focuses on people of colour. While previous studies have looked at the representation of ethnic minorities in books for children and young adults, this book examines the experiences of 'own voice' cultural producers that create a counter-narrative. Specifically, this book will investigate the output and experiences of British young adult fiction authors of colour (BAME authors) published in the UK during the period 2006-2016, drawing upon semi-structured interviews with a sample of authors.

the hate u give pdf: Diversity, Inc. Pamela Newkirk, 2019-10-22 One of Time Magazine's Must-Read Books of 2019 An award-winning journalist shows how workplace diversity initiatives have turned into a profoundly misguided industry--and have done little to bring equality to America's major industries and institutions. Diversity has become the new buzzword, championed by elite institutions from academia to Hollywood to corporate America. In an effort to ensure their organizations represent the racial and ethnic makeup of the country, industry and foundation leaders have pledged hundreds of millions of dollars to commission studies, launch training sessions, and hire consultants and diversity czars. But is it working? In Diversity, Inc., award-winning journalist Pamela Newkirk shines a bright light on the diversity industry, asking the tough questions about what has been effective--and why progress has been so slow. Newkirk highlights the rare success stories, sharing valuable lessons about how other industries can match those gains. But as she argues, despite decades of handwringing, costly initiatives, and uncomfortable conversations, organizations have, apart from a few exceptions, fallen far short of their goals. Diversity, Inc. incisively shows the vast gap between the rhetoric of inclusivity and real achievements. If we are to deliver on the promise of true equality, we need to abandon ineffective, costly measures and commit ourselves to combatting enduring racial attitudes the hate u give pdf: Some of My Friends Are. Deborah Plummer, 2019-01-22 A thoughtful examination of cross-racial friendships—how to develop them, why they're difficult to maintain, and how they foster meaningful conversations about race Surveys have shown that the majority of people believe cross-racial friendships are essential for improving race relations. However, further polling reveals that most Americans tend to gravitate toward friendships within their own race. Psychologist Deborah L. Plummer examines how factors such as leisure, politics, humor, faith, social media, and education influence the nature and intensity of cross-racial friendships. Inspiring and engaging, Plummer draws from focus groups, statistics, and surveys to provide insight into the fears and discomforts associated with cross-racial friendships. Through personal narratives and social analyses of friendship patterns, this book gives an insightful look at how cross-racial friendships work and fail within American society. Plummer encourages all of us to examine our friendship patterns and to deepen and strengthen our current cross-racial friendships. "If you have ever wondered why genuine cross-racial friendships are challenging to develop and maintain in our racially polarized society, and why they are essential to racial reconciliation, read this thoughtful book!" —Beverly Daniel Tatum, author of Why Are All the Black Kids Sitting Together in the Cafeteria?

the hate u give pdf: Toward a BlackBoyCrit Pedagogy Nathaniel Bryan, 2021-11-04 Critical and necessary, this book provides a window into the education and lives of Black boys in early childhood settings. Drawing on Black Critical Theory and Black Male Studies, and applying portraiture methodology, Bryan explores experiences of Black boys and their male teachers in ways that affirm their humanity and acknowledge the consequences of existing in a white supremacist system. Bryan's nuanced and comprehensive portraits honor the voices of Black boys and their male teachers, and counter the one-dimensional and essentialist perspectives that proliferate in our schools, which Bryan identifies as anti-Black misandry. Introducing BlackBoyCrit Pedagogy, Bryan addresses the impact of socially constructed stereotypes and perceptions in the classroom and highlights the importance of educators who challenge such practices. In so doing, he provides a much-needed in-depth examination of pedagogies, literacies, and practices Black male teachers employ, as well as a perceptive view of the academic and social landscapes Black boys must navigate.

the hate u give pdf: Curating a Literacy Life William Kist, 2022 Curating a Literacy Life spotlights the idea of curation as a process for inspiring student-centered learning with digital media. In this book, Kist shows educators how to empower students as they make sense of all the books, videos, websites, and social media they access. Using Smart phones; a Netflix account, and access to a variety of YA, canonical, and media texts, this resource provides a foundation for becoming lifelong scholars and artists. Curating a Literacy Life is for both teachers and parents who are interested in helping young people harness, manage, and learn from the multiple messages and texts they encounter every day. the hate u give pdf: It's Not "One More Thing" Anne Swenson Ticknor, Christy Howard, Mikkaka Overstreet, 2021-07-01 Ticknor, Howard, and Overstreet offer educators insights into the how-tos of culturally responsive pedagogy. They build on their experiences and research of CRP to offer vignettes of literacy instruction that may be common in K-12 classrooms. These examples are offered as a way to situate how teachers may use research based and effective literacy practices while ignoring the identities and experiences of their students. They disrupt the vignettes using theories and concepts presented in the chapter to make visible how each practice could be reimagined to integrate more culturally responsive strategies. Example lessons and activities are provided in each chapter that offer readers glimpses into CRP thinking and decision making. Guiding prompts are also included for readers to use the chapter topic and example lessons to consider ways to be more culturally responsive teachers for their students and in their local communities.

the hate u give pdf: What Does Injustice Have to Do with Me? David Nurenberg, 2020-05-15 Why should we care about the education of privileged white students? Conversations about education in America focus near-exclusively on underprivileged, majority-minority schools for many important reasons. What Does Injustice Have to Do With Me? , however, argues that such efforts cannot succeed in creating a more just and equitable society without also addressing the students who benefit from America's educational, economic and racial inequities. These young people grow up to wield disproportionate power and influence, yet emerge undereducated and poorly prepared to navigate, let alone shape, our increasingly diverse country. David Nurenberg weaves together narrative from his twenty years of suburban teaching with relevant research in education and critical race theory to provide practical, hands-on strategies for educators dealing with challenges unique to high-powered suburban, urban and independent schools: affluent myopia, white fragility, the empathy gap, overinvolved parents, overcautious administrators and an "if it isn't broke, don't fix it" mentality. Despite high test scores and college acceptances, many schools serving affluent white students are indeed broken. Social justice education for privileged white students is not only critical for our society, but also for helping those students themselves emerge from a culture of anxiety and cynicism to find meaning, purpose and self-confidence as activist allies.

the hate u give pdf: Shielding Sandra Noeth, Sandra Umathum, Janez Jansa, 2024-09-03 Shielding offers a collection of conceptual approaches through which bodies, intentionally or involuntarily, become shields. Bodies take on an ambivalent status in the process: they serve as protection or a buffer and express resistance. At the same time, they turn and are turned into weapons when they intervene on the ground and politically, in war, conflicts, and through activism. The contributors address the idea of bodily integrity, both in a material sense and with regard to the symbolic and ethical relations that a body entangles. The book engages with ongoing debates around the re-evaluation of corporeality and embodiment in contemporary socio-political contexts.

the hate u give pdf: The Grammar of School Discipline Hannah Carson Baggett, Carey E. Andrzejewski, 2021-05-18 The Grammar of School Discipline examines how seemingly discrete school discipline policies and practices constitute a particular grammar: Removal, Resistance and Reform. Weaving numeric data with portraits of students and school practitioners, the authors detail a nuanced landscape of school discipline in Alabama and its anti-Black foundations. The removal of Black students can be traced to the antebellum construction of Blackness as criminal, deviant, and deserving of punishment. A focus on resistance centers the agency that students and practitioners exercise despite anti-Black removal. An exploration of specific reform efforts emphasizes that even the most well-intentioned and well-organized reforms are limited when the removal of students remains an option for practitioners. The authors end with an appeal to educational stakeholders to repair the harms that these anti-Black policies and practices inflict on students and communities, and thus move towards repairing the damage that white supremacy inflicts on everyone's humanity.

the hate u give pdf: Toward Critical Multimodality Katarina Silvestri, Nichole Barrett, Tiffany M. Nyachae, 2023-06-01 This edited volume seeks to answer the question, "What does it mean to be a critical multimodal scholar in educational spaces?" Toward Critical Multimodality highlights how choices made throughout multimodal design and research processes are critically-oriented and inextricably linked to power. We show how social semiotics and multimodality inform engagement with criticality in educational spaces through questioning dominant narratives (e.g., white, cisheteropatriarchal, ableist, classist perspectives), exploring relationships between selves and space, problematizing and reimagining educational practices, and dreaming of educational futures that are just, anti-oppressive, and with room for all to thrive while learning. These chapters demonstrate how studying multiple modalities in interaction (e.g., image, writing, color, spatial layout, gaze, proxemics, gestures) can reveal how power operates, provide students with opportunities to explore themselves and their identities with respect to power, and provide a vehicle for scholars to disrupt and transform oppressive educational practices. Furthermore, multiple chapters show alternative ways to display, construct and share knowledge as transformative pedagogical practice in learning environments. We reframe social semiotics and multimodality as an integral part of decentering dominant ideas of power and what "counts" as purposeful meaning making by highlighting how criticality and multimodality integrate theoretically and methodologically.
